EXTERNAL EMAIL

Dear All –

Sorry for the group email and apologies if I have left anyone off who should be on this. As you may be aware, the FBI executed search warrants at the homes of Kris Roglieri and Kimberly Humphrey today (among other search warrants), and they are in the process of getting criminal defense counsel (not our firm). In light of this, our ability to communicate with Mr. Roglieri and Ms. Humphrey in the defense of Prime Capital in several civil matters, as well in the prosecution of the bad-faith claims in the Bankruptcy Court, has been disrupted and will be until defense counsel is in place and other matters are sorted out. Accordingly, we think the best course of action would be to stay all non-criminal matters (i.e., the proceedings before Judge D’Agostino, the JAMS arbitration, and the Bankruptcy proceeding) immediately and until further notice. (I will reach out to ER Tennessee’s counsel separately.) Are we in agreement? I am open to suggestions about how best to effect this stay.

Regards,

Pieter Van Tol
